Certified Radiology Administrator (CRA) Exam Eligible for 24 Category A CE Credits ARRT will grant 24 CE credits for successful completion of the CRA exam

(Sudbury, MA, February 14, 2003) – The American Healthcare Radiology Administrators (AHRA) announced today that The American Registry of Radiologic Technologists (ARRT) Board of Trustees approved a proposal from AHRA to award 24 Category A CE credits for successful completion of the Certified Radiology Administrator (CRA) examination.

ARRT will grant 24 CE credits to candidates who have successfully completed the CRA exam, retroactive to the first administration on July 27, 2002. ARRT Category A CE credits will be awarded on the date the examination is administered.

The CRA exam tests a candidate's knowledge in five management domain (content) areas: human resource management, asset resource management, fiscal management, operations management, and communication and information management.

The Certified Radiology Administrator (CRA) Program is the first and only one of its kind in the industry. The CRA Program works to raise the business acumen of imaging administrators, provide a standardized evaluation of an imaging administrator's competence, enhance the status of imaging administration in the healthcare community, and ensure appropriate recognition of expertise as identified by the certification.

AHRA is extremely grateful to Kodak Health Imaging, who pledged $1 million over five years to fund this exciting new program for radiology administrators to become certified, earning them the credentials CRA.

AHRA is the premier association of managers in imaging sciences providing the information, education, and networking opportunities needed to succeed in today's rapidly changing healthcare environment. Through the efforts of hundreds of active volunteers, AHRA brings information about the most current and complex topics to its members and interested others.
